Robbed in a white lace gown that cost $15,000, Miss Mathilde Townsend, one of the best-known girls in Washington, D. C., daughter of Mrs. May Scott Townsend, was married to Peter Goelet Gerry of New York, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbridge T. Gerry of New York.

A Boston (Mass.) patrolman, Stephen Higgins, is standing a lot of joking from his fellows because he mistook Thomas W. Lawson for a second-story worker the other night and actually "captured" the financier.

Leroy Hendricks, eighteen years old, son of Mayor A. R. Hendricks of Sterling, Ill., has started on a tour around the world on a motorcycle. He expects to earn his expenses by painting signs.

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt visited Buckingham palace and had a long chat with Alexandra, the queen mother. The call was made at the suggestion of her majesty, who, when she received Mr. Roosevelt, expressed the hope that she might see the former president's wife.

Wearied of publicity, tired of fame, of newspaper praise and abuse, James A. Patten, the wheat and cotton king, is to retire with his millions from business July 1.

Commander Robert E. Peary received the honorary degree of doctor of laws from the University of Edinburgh. The conferment was made before a notable company, which gave the American explorer a cordial welcome.

GENERAL NEWS

While Edwin Gould, son of Jay Gould and worth a sixth of $86,000,000, ran wild over Connecticut in a hunt for his son, Edwin, Jr., aged sixteen, the youth was in jail at New Britain as a tramp. He had been there for several hours, after three days and nights of hunger "on the road." He had run away from school.

Following their release on bail, Senators John Broderick of Chicago and Stanton C. Pemberton of Oakland and Representative Joseph S. Clark of Vandavia, all made a general denial of the charges set out in the indictments voted against them by the Sangamon county (Illinois) grand jury. The three legislators entered pleas of not guilty to the charges and were admitted to bail.

A battle between the troops of President Madrid and those of Provisional President Estrada of the revolutionists took place near Bluefields, Nicaragua. Two hundred prisoners were taken by the Estrada troops.

Two expeditions from the American Museum of Natural History will leave New York shortly for Montana and Wyoming in search of dinosaurs with three horns on each nose and horses with four toes to a foot. The museum scientists hope to find specimens of both varieties.

Although the forces of President Madrid gained a victory over the troops of General Estrada and captured Bluefields Bluff, which was garrisoned by a small provisional army, Estrada succeeded in repulsing the enemy with heavy losses.

A drenching rainstorm swept over Pittsburgh, Pa., and gave great assistance in quenching a fire which for seven hours threatened the downtown part of the city. The loss is estimated at $250,000. More than thirty firemen were hurt but none were killed.

Many houses in the village of Guthrie, W. Va., were destroyed by a tornado which passed over the Elk valley, a few miles north of Charleston. Several persons were injured and much live stock was killed.

The output of the government's smokeless-powder factory at Picatinny, N. J., arsenal is to be three times the present supply and soon after machinery now ordered has been installed, the plant will be turning out 3,000 pounds of this powerful explosive, daily, if needed.

Forty persons were injured when two cars of the California electric railway on the Leona Heights line ran into each other. Some of the passengers were injured fatally. The cars were filled with excursionists bound for picnic grounds.

Glenn H. Curtiss, the famous aviator, flew in an aeroplane from Albany to New York, a distance of 137 miles, in 152 minutes. Never before had this trip been made by man in the air. The flight of Curtiss broke the world's record for speed in a long-distance test. He maintained an average of 54.78 miles an hour.

State's Attorney Wayman fired a raking broadside into the fabric of technicalities raised by the defense for Lee O'Neill Browne in seeking to quash the bribery indictment against the minority leader and with invective, sarcasm and ridicule, fortified by citations from the law books, assailed the theory that it was no criminal act under the laws of Illinois to give or to take a bribe for voting for a United States senator.

The Ballinger-Pinchot investigation ended in a blaze of verbal fireworks. The oratorical efforts closed the opening hearings and the attorneys who have been engaged in the case now will prepare briefs for submission to the committee, which will meet June 11 to receive them.

The eastern shipyard at Greenport, N. Y., was burned and 12 yachts were destroyed. The loss is $275,000.

The Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad has joined the ranks of the New York Central, Erie and other roads in announcing an increase in its New York commutation rates.

Inspection by divers of the sunken French submarine Pluviose, which was in a collision with the cross-channel steamer Pas de Calais, shows conclusively that the hull of the submarine was crushed and that all of the crew of twenty-seven men were drowned.

E. F. Hutton & Co., one of the most prominent brokerage firms in New York, was suspended from membership on the New York stock exchange for one year for having violated a strict rule of the exchange in regard to splitting commissions.

After falling four stories down an elevator shaft and landing in four feet of water, in which he was nearly drowned, John J. Sloggett, a carpenter of New York city, escaped with a broken arm and many scratches.

Privates Graby and Michel, who recently murdered Mme. Gouin, wife of the governor of the Bank of France, on a train, were found guilty by a court-martial at Paris. Graby was sentenced to death, Michel to 20 years' imprisonment.

Alma Kellner, eight years old, who disappeared on December 2, 1909, was murdered. Her body, mutilated, crushed, partly missing and decomposed, was found in an old cistern under a parish house of St. John's Catholic church in Louisville, Ky. Joseph Wendling, formerly painter at St. John's church, is being sought by the police. His wife was arrested on a charge of being an accessory to the murder.

Two passengers were killed and ten injured when a Lehigh Valley accommodation train was wrecked at Stull, Pa., near Wilkesbarre.

Former President Roosevelt had an opportunity to hear something of affairs in the United States. By appointment he met Senator Elihu Root, who is passing through London on his way to The Hague.

Senator Lorimer's resolution of inquiry into the charges that bribery and corruption entered into his election to the United States senate may be changed in its scope before the senate adopts it. Members who have studied the resolution said that in their judgment it should include all evidence developed which has a bearing on the right of the senator to his seat.

The attorneys in the Ballinger investigation began their closing arguments before the joint investigating committee. Ballinger was arraigned by Attorneys Brandeis and Pepper, and they made savage onslaughts on the secretary, Attorney Verrees, representing Mr. Ballinger, poured volley after volley of scathing invective into Pinchot, Garfield, Glavis and others, accusing them of conspiring to besmirch the character of the cabinet officer.

Glenn C. Merritt, a naval wireless operator, whose home is in Des Moines, Ia., is under arrest at the Vallejo (Cal.) navy yard charged with raising a government pay check from $5 to $300 and passing it.

Miss Sarah E. Peck, member of the faculty of Union college, near Lincoln, Neb., who was indicted for refusing to give her age to the census enumerator, was fined ten dollars by United District Judge Munger. She has not yet told her age.

While trying to dive under a ferry boat in the English channel, the French submarine Pluviose was rammed and sunk with all on board. The Pluviose carried a crew of 23 men and four officers, and all went down when the vessel sank.

SOLDIERS BESIEGE POLICE

Troopers From Fort Fight Pitched Battle With Cheyenne Force and Three Are Wounded.

Cheyenne, Wyo., June 1.—Soldiers from Fort D. A. Russell and a squad of police fought a pitched battle in the streets in which three soldiers are said to have been wounded by the bullets of the police. The police were forced to retreat to the station house where they were besieged by the soldiers until relieved by a detail of colored troopers from the fort. The trouble grew out of the death of Private Frank Carroll, Second artillery, who, it is alleged, was clubbed to death by a policeman while under arrest.

ADMITS HE STABBED MAN

Roumanian, Kneeling at Bier, Confesses Murder as He Gazes on the Dead.

Youngstown, June 1.—When taken to view the body of John Brinza, Peter Chorun, a Roumanian, confessed that he had stabbed Brinza. To comply with Roumanian customs, the accused man was taken to view the corpse which had been placed in a coffin on a front porch and leaned against the side of a boarding house in East Boardman. When the lid of the casket was removed, Chorun knelt in prayer and asked forgiveness of the dead man. Then he confessed to the killing.

Scared Into Sound Health.

Mr. B. F. Kelley, Springfield, Ill., writes: "A year ago I began to be troubled with my kidneys and bladder, which grew worse until I became alarmed at my condition. I suffered also with dull heavy headaches and the action of my bladder was annoying and painful. I read of Foley Kidney Pills and after taking them a few weeks the headaches left me, the action of my bladder was again normal, and I was free of all distress." F. A. Morris, Canfield.

TRY THIS SIMPLE EXPERIMENT.

Puzzle Why the Marbles Fall Exactly the Same Time.

If some one asked you which reached the ground first, a cannon ball shot forward (not upward) from the mouth of a cannon or a cannon ball just dropped from the mouth of the same cannon at the same time, you would probably hit upon every solution but the correct one.

The right solution is that both balls reach the ground on exactly the same instant.

Here is a very simple way in which to prove the truth of this well-known scientific law: Procure any sort of a grooved board of ordinary length; twist a piece of wire into a round eye just large enough to hold a marble so loosely that the slightest touch will drop it through the eye; fasten the wire to the end of the board exactly where the center of the groove comes, and then mount the board on a table with one end propped up under a block of wood or a book.

Now place one marble in the wire loop and then allow another marble to roll down the inclined groove, starting at point X. It strikes the marble in the wire and both drop to the ground, and although the second marble drops a couple of feet farther away from the table at point Y, yet you cannot detect the difference of an instant in the sound of both marbles' contact with the floor.

Number of Postage Stamps. According to the "Universal Standard Catalogue of the Postage Stamps of the World," the total number of all known varieties of postage stamps issued by all the governments of the world up to the present time is 19,242. Of this number 205 have been issued in Great Britain, and 5,711 in the various British colonies and protectorates, leaving 13,326 for the rest of the world. Dividing the totals among the continents, Europe issued 4,089, Asia 3,628, Africa 4,005, America, including the West Indies, 6,095, and Oceania, 1,425. Salvador has issued more varieties of postage stamps than any other country, the number being 450. Poland and Wadhwa have each found a solitary specimen sufficient for their postal needs.—Westminster Gazette.

A Real Hobby Horse Race. No doubt you once had a hobby horse, and rode it, too, rocking backward and forward, trotting, galloping and even jumping fences and dashing madly across country—all in imagination. Any boy or girl who has ever had a hobby horse will remember doing just these things and will remember, too, what fun it was.

Suppose you really could race on a hobby horse, against some one else mounted in the same way? Well, you can, and your hobby horse will prance, lick up, buck, stumble and do a lot of very "horsey" things if you let it make him.

This hobby horse has real kickable legs, four of them, no tail at all, but to make up for it, two lively heads. It can go at several gaits and is kind and gentle. It will never run away, and it will always go just as fast or slow as you desire.

It is useless to describe the construction of the hobby horse, for the picture shows exactly how it is made. The riders get astride of it as the picture shows, with knees above the cross bar and their elbows beneath it, grasping the body of the "horse" with their hands.

They may gallop, that is, both rise on their toes and spring forward in a series of jumps, or "pace," both moving their right feet forward at the same time and then their left feet. It is an open question which is the faster method, and a race between two teams or rather two "hobby horses," one galloping and one pacing, is a most interesting thing to watch.

Make a hobby horse, get two of your friends to make one, too, and have a race. It is no end of fun, and two boys may become so expert in the sport that they may defeat with ease any novices who may race against them.

A Butterfly Party.

A pretty amusement, much in vogue among art students, is what we have to suggest for the making of a butterfly party.

To prepare for this unique entertainment, give a few tubes of oil colors, one each of white, crimson, lake, vermilion, yellow, green and blue. This seems like a good many to provide, but while a great variety of colors is needed to produce the very best effects, satisfactory effects may be produced with three or four.

You will also need a palette knife, two or three paper cutters or fruit knives and a number of sheets of heavy white note paper.

Give each guest a sheet of the note paper and instruct him to fold it in half. Then, having opened it again, he must put a little of each of several colors together on one side of, and close to, the fold, half way from edge to edge of the sheet of paper and fold the paper again down over the paint.

Now, with a paper cutter or a dull-edged fruit knife, let him press the paper over the paint so as to spread the latter upward and outward to form the profile of a butterfly's wing. Then he should press downward to form the lower wing, being guided in the work by holding the paper up to the light now and then to see in what shape the colors are spreading.

When all the guests have finished, the papers should be opened, and a beautiful butterfly of many colors will be found in each. If a good deal of paint is used, beautiful markings will be produced, with ridges and corrugations that make the butterfly look quite natural.

At the close of the work a vote should be taken as to whose butterfly is the best, and a prize awarded accordingly.

If it be impracticable to get a variety of colors, a pretty effect may be produced with white paint and paper in dark tints. The result will be a number of really beautiful white butterflies, showing effectively on a colored background.

The butterflies made during the evening may be taken home by the guests or left with the hostess as souvenirs of the occasion.

The only man who can afford to gamble with destiny is he who has nothing to lose.

Japs and Russians.

Japs and Russians is a game played by two persons with slate and pencil, says the Junior Post Express. About a quarter of the slate is marked off by a line at each end and in each of the compartments so marked off are made a number of dots about the size of a pinhead, those at one end representing Japs and the others Russians. The number of Japs and Russians may be large or small, as agreed on, but must be equal. At one end of each compartment is a small square which serves as a battery. Each player, in turn, places the point of his pencil in his own battery, and then draws a line quickly in the direction of his enemy's men. The line must have no angles in it, but must be straight or curved. Those dots through which the line passes are considered dead men, and he who first kills all of the enemy's men is the winner. Sometimes the players are required to shut their eyes or turn away their heads when drawing their lines.

A woman with her first baby may suggest a girl with a doll, but there isn't so much resemblance to pastime when the second, third and fourth arrive.

New Education.

A member of a school board was visiting a public school not long ago when he encountered a small boy in the hall.

"What are you studying, my boy?" the visitor asked.

"Arithmetic and geography," answered the boy.

"And what are you learning in arithmetic?"

"The boy thought for a moment then he replied 'Quintina.'"

"Quintina?" said the surprised of-ficial. "What's that?"

"Why don't you know," said the boy. "Two quintina four, three quintina six, four quintina eight, five quintina ten."—Lippincott's.

Revising an Old One. Miss Prim—When I marry I am determined that my husband shall dress in good taste.

It is Indeed. Gunner—Nowadays when you are disappointed in love it is the fashion to become a mountain climber.

Guy—Well, that is better than becoming a porch climber. —Chicago News.

"I will win you yet!" he passionately exclaimed. "I will show that I am worthy of you." "There," she replied, "that proves what I have always said—that you were a confirmed egotist."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Little Willie—Say pa, what is a genius? Pa—A genius, my boy, is a person whom nature lets in on the ground floor, but whom circumstances force to live in an attic.—Chicago News.

New Husband—"Did you make those biscuits, my dear?" His Wife—"Yes, darling."

Her Husband—"Well, I'd rather you would not make any more, sweet-heart."

His Wife—"Why not, love?"

Her Husband—"Because, angel mine, you are too light for such heavy work."

Hixon—"My tailor has sent me two bills for one suit of clothes."

Dixon—"How do you account for it?"

Hixon—"He evidently uses the double-entry system of book-keeping."

"She's all puffed up." "With Pride?"

"No, with powder."—Syracuse Post-Standard.
